1840 – 1983 Modern China a Topical History Su Kaiming (Frank K. M. Su) is uniquely qualified to tell the history of modern China to foreigners. Born in 1903 in north China he encountered Western culture for the first time at his missionary school. After graduating from College in China he went to America where he studied History and received his B.A., and then his M.A from Harvard. Realizing that Chiang Kai-shek and the Kuomintang government had betrayed Sun Yat-sen’s teachings he remained in the U.S. After many years of aiding the Chinese revolution he finally returned to China in 1953 with his American wife and their daughter to help rebuild China. In the years to come he witnessed the cultural revolution, the Great Leap Forward etc. From his unique perspective he surveys the origins and continuing development of the Chinese revolution from the perspective of both observer and participant.	$16.95	$9.95
